NUMBER 2

VICE PRESIDENT

FAIRBANKS

Presides at the Welcome to Democratic Vice President Nominee.

At Indianapolis, Ind., July 15, the reception given John W. Kern, Democratic candidate for Vice President, in the court house yard was as generous and spontaneous as the citizens of Indianapolis, regardless of politics, could make it. Fully 5,000 people gathered.

The newly nominated candidate was presented by Charles W. Fairbanks, Vice President of the United States. Four years ago Mr. Kern presented Mr. Fairbanks to a big non-partisan gathering under similar circumstances.

Mr. Fairbanks said in part: "Mr. Kern, I shall always remember with sincere appreciation the generous and hearty welcome which you extended to me four years ago. It is particularly gratifying to me now to be able to perform a similar office for you.

"While we owe allegiance to different political parties our differences have never disturbed our friendship or marred our personal relations. I admire you as friend, neighbor and fellow citizen, and rejoice with you in the great distinction which your party has been pleased to confer upon you by nominating you for Vice President of the United States.

"Your neighbors know that no matter how much men may disagree with your political views, they respect your ability as a lawyer, your eminence as an orator, your integrity as a man, your uprightness as a neighbor and your admirable life within the sacred circle of home.

"I cannot wish you success in your cause. I can, however, express the certain conviction that you will be crowned with the increased respect and personal confidence of your neighbors."

Makes Hogs Thrifty.

J. T. Estes, R. R. 4, Winchester, Ky., says: "I gave my hogs Bourbon Hog Cholera Remedy and feel them in a lot where hogs had died with cholera. I never had a thrifter lot of hogs or had them fatten faster." Sold by W. S. Lloyd.

Democrats of Maine Favor Re-submission.

Maine Democrats in convention, declare for re-submission of the Prohibition law; abolition of State liquor agency system; an eight-hour law for women and children in factories and prohibition of child labor in factories. Republicans had previously declared for temperance.

If you haven't the time to exercise regularly, Doan's Regulents will prevent constipation. They induce a mild, easy, healthful action of the bowels without griping. Ask your druggist for them. 25c. 51-5

After R. R. Commission.

The Kentucky Railroad Commission has filed a bill of exceptions in the United States Court at Frankfort in appeal to the recent decision of Judge Cochran in which he holds the commission cannot fix freight rates. The life or usefulness of the commission will depend on the outcome of the litigation.

Hotel Men Oppose.

At Saratoga, N. Y., the Hotel Men's Mutual Benefit Association adopted this:

"This Association desires to express its staunch conviction that prohibition, embodying as it does legislative restriction of personal liberty, is an issue that hotel men of America cannot ignore."

PUBLICITY

Democrats to Publish Contributions to Party Fund.

Bryan to be Notified at Lincoln. Kern's Notification Later.

At Lincoln, Neb., on July 14, the appointment of a subcommittee of eleven to meet in Chicago, July 25, to name a chairman of the Democratic National Committee and the adoption of a resolution providing for making public campaign contributions were the principal accomplishments of the National Committee's meeting with W. J. Bryan and J. W. Kern.

THE NOTIFICATION.

Lincoln is extremely happy because the formal notification of her foremost citizen that he has been chosen as the Democratic standard-bearer will take place in his home town. Some members believed there would be great political advantage in having the notification take place in New York. Mr. Bryan's wish is to have the scene laid in his home city. The date was set for August 12. As this is a good two weeks after the date appointed for a similar function at Cincinnati for Mr. Taft, Mr. Bryan will have ample opportunity to prepare an answer to any statements the Republican nominee may make. The official notification of the vice presidential nominee, Mr. Kern, will take place at Indianapolis.

MINISTER

Makes Strong Appeal For Betterment of Conditions in the Mountains.

"A lack of evangelization, a want of social development and a lack of opportunity along educational lines are the causes to which Rev. Leonard W. Doolan, of the Highland Baptist Church, Louisville, attributes the troubles that have made the mountainous districts of Kentucky notorious. He made an urgent appeal for the evangelization of Kentucky in order that lawlessness and agencies that are hostile to the civic liberty of the State may be stamped out. "The people in the mountains of this State, Dr. Doolan said, are greatly in need of educational and moral training. Unless the people in the mountains are helped to help themselves, he said there is no chance for their betterment, and improvement of their social conditions."

INCREASE IN FREIGHT RATES

On Sugar and Coffee Between Chicago and New York.

New York, July 14.—The New York Central railroad has filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission a new rate on sugar and coffee between New York and Chicago. This means an 11 per cent. increase on coffee and 7-2-3 per cent on sugar.

The railroads which haul the two commodities from Southern ports have a similar increase, in effect August 1.

The present rate on sugar between New York and Chicago is 26 cents per 100 pounds. The new rate will be 28 cents per 100. The present rate on coffee is 27 cents. The new rate will be 30 cents.

Count Komura, the Japanese Ambassador to the Court of St. James, will leave London July 29, to take up the post of Foreign Minister in the new Katsura cabinet.

FIGHT AGAINST ERNST.

Republicans From His Own District After Him.

Winn Will Be Chairman of Campaign Committee.

The defeat of Richard P. Ernst for National Committeeman from Kentucky at the National Republican Convention was seemingly the beginning of the end of him as a potent factor in State politics. The war against him was again renewed in the meeting of the Republican State Central Committee last week in Louisville. The move was made by H. W. Reusch, of Campbell county, and J. T. Earle, of Kenton county, who petitioned the State Central Committee to set aside the County Committees selected by the rival factions in the two counties on April 25.

Mr. Ernst was greatly angered when the resolution was presented to the committee.

TO KEEP AFTER ERNST'S SCALP.

H. W. Reusch is a member of the Board of Aldermen of Newport and J. T. Earle is Mayor of Latonia, and are recognized as the leaders of the faction in Kenton and Campbell counties opposed to the Ernst faction. They said they were going after Mr. Ernst's scalp as State Central Committeeman. They claim they were treated unfairly at the State Convention, being run over by the Committee on Credentials.

THINK COMMITTEE ANTI-ERNST.

They think that the steam roller process at Chicago has made the State Central Committee anti-Ernst, and they hope to have the committee unseat Ernst.

The selection of a campaign committee for the presidential election was another snag struck.

A subcommittee to select a campaign committee agreed to recommend Robert H. Winn as chairman.

HOFFMAN RESIGNS.

Famous Sunday-Closing Magistrate Resigns.

Magistrate Frank J. Hoffman, of Louisville, last week offered his resignation to County Judge Arthur Peter, who accepted it. This action followed the notification by Alex Wurtel that he wished to withdraw as surety on Hoffman's bond. The United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company on Hoffman's bond until about a month ago, withdrew. Hoffman was convicted for malfeasance in office in the Criminal Court and a fine of $100 assessed against him. He was said to have failed to account for money collected as fines and forfeitures as Magistrate.

Hoffman was elected in 1905 and became prominent in his personally-conducted crusade on behalf of the Sunday law. It was charged at the time that he went to great lengths to enforce it to the letter so as to make the law odious to all. He had numerous druggists arrested. In every instance the alleged offenders were pardoned by G. V. Beckham.

Young Farmer Killed.

William Shanks, 18 years of age, a young farmer living near Sharpsburg, fell beneath a wagon load of hay, and died in a few hours from the injuries he received.

Against Selling Liquor To Children

In Louisville the Kentucky Anti-Saloon League decided to take steps to prohibit the sale of liquor to minors when parents send their children to purchase liquor.

WATER WAGON

Meets Delegates to Prohibition Convention.

At Columbus, O., on July 14, a majority of the 1,500 delegates to the Prohibition National Convention, and many visitors, all day marched the streets, escorting the delegations from the Union Station to the hotels to which they were assigned, a decorated wagon drawn by four white horses, emblematic of the eight prohibition States of the Union, and followed by a mule labelled "Missouri two-thirds dry," made a hit with the delegates and visitors.

PAYS PENALTY.

Slayer of Priest Goes to Gallops.

Calling down maledictions upon the Roman priesthood and shouting in Italian "Long live Italy. Long live the protestants," Giuseppe Alia, the murderer of Father Leo Heinrichs, was carried to the death trap, and at 8:30 o'clock paid the penalty of his crime at Canon City, Col., July 15.

At 7 o'clock Guard Sasso said that within one hour the execution would take place. Alia again said he felt no sorrow whatever for having killed Father Leo. He was certain that Father Leo was the man he had been searching for for many months. Alia said he had worked for Father Leo in Portugal. He said he found no fault with the law, but that the priest-did wrong in breaking up his family.

New College in Kentucky Mountains Dedicated.

Under most auspicious circumstances the new college on Punched Camp, Breathitt county, was dedicated. The college three miles from Oakdale, a station on L. & E. road is the result of work by the Soul Winners.

Dr. E. O. Guerrant, who has spent a quarter of a century in mission work in the mountains and whose work made this school a possibility, was one of the speakers and was heartily received and applauded. Other addresses were made by the Rev. Mr. Tyler, of Midway; Paul Dierthick, of Jackson; the Rev. E. L. Southgate, of Lexington; the Rev. Mr. McCorkle, of Nicholasville, and Gov. A. E. Willson. The Gov. said:

"We want liberty for our people, but that liberty must be through the law, and we must have laws for liberty." He said he appeared there as no politician, but only as a private citizen, urging his fellow-citizens to do their duty.

His speech was well received and was full of sound and wholesome advice, and great good will result to the college and the people of the community.

Cure For Limberneck.

Mrs. G. A. Beazley, Trenton, Ky., says: "I had fine success in treating my fowls for Limberneck and Cholera with Bourbon Poultry Cure. I gave them the medicine in both drinking water and food. I like this remedy fine." For sale by W. S. Lloyd.

Hanging Sixty a Month in the Odessa District.

More than sixty persons a month are now being put to death for political or semi-political offenses in the Odessa district, Russia. On one day seven men and one woman were hanged.

The executions take place in the Langeron suburb. Every morning at 3 o'clock the residents are awakened by the clatter of carts containing the doomed men.

A HARD STRUGGLE.

Many a Mt. Sterling Citizen Finds the Struggle Hard.

With a back constantly aching, With distressing urinary disorders, Daily existence is a hard struggle. No need to keep it up. Doan's Kidney Pills will cure you. Mt. Sterling people endorse this claim:

L. G. Howard living on West Locust St., Mt. Sterling, Ky., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills cured me two years ago of kidney complaint, and since that time I have recommended them to a great many persons. Prior to using Doan's Kidney Pills I had occasional attacks of backache for over ten years but never paid any attention to it until about two years ago when I was in a miserable condition. My kidneys seemed to give out all at once. The least work I did brought an aching through my back and finally I became so bad that I was not able to stand. There was also an intense weakness of the kidney secretions which caused me additional annoyance. I finally procured Doan's Kidney Pills at F. C. Duerson's drug store, and as previously stated that remedy freed me of every sign of the complaint. My wife keeps them in the house at all times and says that she never found a remedy that has proven of such great benefit to her."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other. 2-2t

The Elks, in convention at Dallas, selected Los Angeles, Cal., as the next convention city.

MUST QUIT

Licenses of Three Saloons--Ruling of the Board.

Out of eleven saloonkeepers before the License Board of Louisville on Wednesday three suffered the loss of their saloon license. The members of the board announced that in the future any saloonkeeper who has beer of liquor of any kind in any room about his premises other than the barroom proper will suffer the loss of his license. This decision was made following testimony adduced which showed that many saloon men are in the habit of placing beer in ice coolers in rooms other than the saloon proper on Saturday night and keeping it there over Sunday. The ruling applies to Sunday only.

Minister faints While Preaching Funeral.

While the Rev. T. J. Godbey was preaching the funeral of Mrs. Will Gist at New Castle, Ky., on Wednesday he fainted. Before he regained consciousness the corpse was carried to the cemetery minus most of the audience, as they remained at the church during the excitement.

The Rev. Mr. Godbey is an old and honored member of the Methodist Church, having been in the service for more than fifty years. He revived sufficiently to be taken to his home.

Looking For More Trouble.

All the Peoria, Illinois, distillers have started proceedings against Internal Revenue Collector Reunick to prevent the enforcement of the law in regard to the labels on their products.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For President,
WM. J. BRYAN,
of Nebraska.
For Vice President,
JOHN W. KERN,
of Indiana.
For Congress,
AMOS DAVIS,
of Morgan County.

AMOS DAVIS.

We present in the list of Democratic candidates the name of Amos Davis, of Morgan county, the nominee of the Democratic Congressional Convention of this (the Tenth) district, assembled at Eastville Springs on July 13. For many years we have known Amos Davis. Guided by what we know and have heard we, without hesitation, present him as a man worthy of the acquaintance, friendship, confidence and support of the voters of this district.

He is a native of Morgan county, 74 years old. The educational opportunities of his early days were meager, but he is an intelligent man. The people of his county elected him sheriff for at least two terms and twice has served as County Judge; through all his years he has lived on a farm. For probably 12 to 15 years he has been actively engaged in commercial life, being a traveling salesman in a large section of eastern Kentucky for a wholesale clothing house. He knows the people in a very large part of the mountains, especially in his district, and the people know him. They know him to be an industrious, honest, truthful, sober, discreet, public spirited, God fearing man, and they will elect him to Congress, because he is worthy and can be trusted. He is not gifted as a speaker, he does not pretend to be. He is lacking in some of the modern day characteristics of public life: fraud, deceit, dissipation.

We believe he will do what he thinks to be right. He will not aspire to leadership. He is too old, too modest and too wise for that. He can not now master the complicated and stupendous problems of this great government of ours, but he can and will do his part to fulfill that declaration of old: Righteousness exalts a nation. The word has been passed around and Amos Davis will be elected to Congress.

This is our estimate of this plain, old man from the mountains. The people can trust him. Tobacco growers will read with interest "Chewing Board, etc." and of prices realized for chewing tobacco, and will think of tobacco prices now and before the Equity Society organized.

Good-bye, Mr. Langley.

What honor attaches to an office if the place is corrupt and the holder has corrupted himself and "the dear people" by the use of whiskey and bribery.

From present indications it seems that the buying of a Presidency and a seat in Congress by the aid of large contributions from "protected industries" is a thing of the past. See declarations on this subject. We are pleased to know that "the powers that be" and the leaders of the Democratic and Republican parties are determined to abide by the law—to acquire an office honorably.

Yes, tis true that during Mr. Langley's tenure of office, appropriations for this city and district have been secured. He no doubt was largely instrumental in securing them. We give him credit and thank him for his service; but has he done more than he should have done? The district has done much for him—thrust honor upon him—and given him an office with a $7500 attachment.

Prior to the nominating convention in this Congressional district, we said: "Unless there is great care in the nomination—the prospects for defeat are very flattering. We may be criticised for so speaking, but this is our opinion frankly expressed." "We also said: "Our nominee should be an able, public spirited, God-fearing, clean, sober man, who has experience as a public speaker, a man of commanding personality." Our nominee is not a brilliant man or a fluent speaker, but he possesses many admirable traits. See extended article, "Amos Davis."

Money to Loan

W. E. Cassidy and H. C. Thompson Dispose of Big Coal Property.

The Imperial Coal Company, with general offices in Lexington, and mines near Jackson, Breathitt county, has been sold by its owners, W. E. Cassidy, of Lexington, and H. C. Thompson, of Winchester, to Pennsylvania and West Virginia capitalists, the details of the transfer having been completed Saturday and the money paid over. The purchasers are Fred Brown, of Clarksburg, Pa., and J. M. Hartley, of Fairmont, W. Va. They several days ago, accompanied by Messrs. Cassidy and Thompson, made a thorough examination of the property.

Messrs. Cassidy and Thompson organized the company about one year ago and had put out $20,000 into the mines, equipping them with electric machinery and other facilities.

The general offices of the company will be removed to Jackson and Mr. Fred Brown will be the general manager.

Our Friend Stoddard.

On Monday we met our little friend, Stoddard Young, of North Middletown, aged nine years, who came to town with his father. We were inquiring of his health and wealth and finding out something of boy life.

Here is his partial inventory: two sheep and three lambs, one pig, a pony and colt, thirteen old chickens and a lot of little chicks. He did not gather any grass seed for market. He said they were his. No doubt he will see that they are well cared for and his flocks and herds will increase.

Court Attendance.

The Court-day crowd was not as large as usual. The recent appearance of John Robinson circus, which brought a great assemblage here, was no doubt partially responsible for the change.

FINANCIAL REVIEW.

Wall Street—Optimistic Regarding Situation.

There have been several important developments in both the financial and commercial worlds during the past week, the nature of which has been to inspire further confidence in the general business outlook of the country at large, as well as to create a more cheerful feeling in the stock market.

In the first place, the agricultural districts of the country have been visited by more or less copious rains and the growing crops have thereby been materially benefited. In addition, unmistakable evidences of still greater improvements in many lines of industry, notably the iron and steel and copper metal trades, have come to light, while the railroads are gradually recovering from the period of depression.

BATH COUNTY ITEMS.

Ben Wilson has sold his 1907 tobacco, about 8,000 pounds, to the Brown Tobacco Company at Lexington. J. J. Matthews sustained a bad dislocation of the left hip Monday July 13. At work on the colored lodge building he was attacked by vertigo and fell a distance of about 10 feet.—Bath County World.

The ore mines have closed under the price of iron ore becomes more remunerative. The railroad surveys are running the line from Prickly Ash and toward Sharpburg. The chief engineer was here Saturday and said he was assured by the President of the company that the road would be built, hence he is making a careful survey. Marion Myers, raftman, and Wm. Alexander, saw mill operator, at Farmers, quarreled over timber. Myers shot at Alexander, one ball hitting him in the arm and one on the finger. Elder Cleveland Carpenter will speak on Carrington's Rock the third Sunday in August on "The Supremacy of God's Power." There will be no public dinner, but everybody is invited to come and bring his own lunch.—Owingsville Outlook.

Louisville Republicans (?) Fail to "Make Good."

Louisville is a "welcher."

It pledged to the Republican State Central Committee the payment of the necessary expenses if the Republican State Convention were called to meet there in May and it utterly failed to "make good."

At the meeting of the State Committee in Louisville on Wednesday, Secretary Bennett reported that the expenses of the State convention had been about $500, and that the citizens of Louisville had failed to keep their pledge, with the single exception of Louis Seelbach, of the Hotel Seelbach, who had sent his check for $150, leaving a deficit of $350 in the convention fund.

Lexington raised nearly $1,000 to handsomely entertain the Democratic State Convention of 1908, and did not leave a single item for the Democratic Committee to pay when it was all over.—Lexington Leader, July 19.

Masons Against Liquor Traffic.

The Grand Lodge of A. F. and A. M., of the State of Washington, in its recent annual convention makes an iron-clad rule prohibiting any Mason from engaging in the traffic of intoxicating liquors. The violation of this order will in future be deemed a Masonic offense, and will be punished by expulsion.

Over a Quarter of a Century.

Twenty-six years ago July 1, G. R. Keller took charge of the Mercury and has written and recorded a world of history and witnessed many changes during that time. Over a quarter of a century in one business, in one building, is a fair record.—Carlisle Mercury.

Bryan Welcomes Taft to Advanced Ground on Campaign Contributions.

Fairview, Lincoln, Neb., July 19.—The statement of Judge Taft at Hot Springs, Va., yesterday that the Republican National Committee would not accept any contributions from corporations in his campaign viewed here with more than ordinary interest. Mr. Bryan was so impressed he dictated the following statement: "We welcome him to this advanced ground, and bid him to go further and announce that all individual contributions above a reasonable minimum will be made known before the election."

Will Not Dispute Over Negroes.

W. J. Bryan does not intend to be drawn into the Brownsville case if he can help it. In all his conversations with visiting delegations and others he has carefully refrained from talking on the subject and he put the brand of untruthfulness upon an alleged statement to the effect that he had assured a negro delegation that all individual contributions above a reasonable minimum will be made known before the election.

In Receiver's Hands.

The Olympia Building, in this city, occupied by the postoffice, etc., was recently put in the hands of Receiver J. Will Clay by Judge A. W. Young. A suit had been filed to foreclose a mortgage held on the property.

Democratic Nominees Appeal to the Farmers.

We extract the following from an appeal sent out from Lincoln, Nebraska: "To the Farmers of the United States: "The first contribution made to the Democratic campaign fund this year, so far as we know, was made by an Iowa farmer. Just before the Denver convention met, this man, who modestly prefers not to have his name mentioned, journeyed more than 100 miles to Lincoln with his contribution of $100, which he left with Mr. Bryan to be given to the committee when organized for the campaign. "As the National Committee has not yet been organized, we will ask the Comraoer to call for subscriptions to the farmers' fund. These giving may indicate whether they are willing to have their names mentioned, and if the contribution is not more than $100, their wishes will be complied with. All contributions above $100 must be made known, no matter from whom they come. "The farmers' fund will be turned over to the National Committee as soon as its permanent officers have been selected. Who will be the first to respond? The Denver convention was a people's convention; it adopted a strong, clear, honest platform, and the nominations were made with practical unanimity. "Our fight is a fight for the whole people. Our aim is equal and exact justice to all; our purpose is to restore the government to the hands of freely chosen representatives of the voters. How many farmers will join in furnishing the fund necessary to present the issues?"

"W. J. BRYAN.
"JOHN W. KERN"

Robinson's Circus.

On Thursday Robinson's circus gave two exhibitions here. The afternoon was well attended. The patrons were evidently much pleased for the performances were first-class. The five trained seals were wonderful. The costumes of actors and riders were new, the wild-west riding was exciting, the educated elephants and horses were conspicuous for size and skill. The collection of wild animals, while not as extensive as some, had many fine and rare specimens. The transporting was in a train of two sections. The cars of these trains are owned by the circus and consist of nine coaches and sleepers, ten stock cars and twenty-two flat cars, making a total of forty-one.

We clip from a Lexington paper:

"There are about 600 people with the show, representing nearly every race and almost every religion. "The provisions bought here yesterday to feed this throng consisted of 250 dozen eggs, 1,000 pounds of fresh meat, 50 bushels of potatoes, 90 gallons of milk, 800 pounds of green vegetables, 40 pounds of American cheese, 300 pounds, 600 loaves of bread, 190 quarts of ice cream, 200 gallons of coffee and 175 gallons of tea."

This public will give a hearty welcome when this show returns.

Many Cattle Were in Pens on Tuesday, a Real Court-day Sale for Winchester and other towns.

Corporation Money Not Acceptable

At the National Committee meeting with William J. Bryan and John W. Kern at the former's home Tuesday of last week, the following resolution was adopted: "Resolved, That the Democratic National Committee, in pursuance of the pledge given in the national platform recently adopted at Denver, announces that it will accept no contributions whatever from corporations; that it will accept no individual contributions above $10,000 and that it will make public before the election all individual collections above $100, contributions received before October 15 being published on or before that date, and contributions received after that date being published upon the date on which they are received and that no contributions above $100 shall be accepted within three days of the election."

The Democratic Vice Presidential nominee is a kinsman of Sam Kerns, son-in-law of Sam Turley, being second cousin of Sam Kerns' father.

July Court.

Fully 6,000 cattle on the market. Pens all full and from 1,000 to 1,200 cattle on the market that could not be penned. The quality was fairly good with a few fine cattle in the offerings. Trade slow as buyers would not pay the prices asked. A few steers sold at 45c and a premium, but most of sales below that price. Yearlings at 40c to 44c. Heifers at 32c to 40c. Cows at 30c to 34c. Bulls at 20c to 30c. Old cows and rough oxen at 14c to 20c. Not many buyers at the pens and the bulk of the stock not sold by night. The decline in prices of fat cattle threw a damper on stock cattle that hurt the market land.

SALES.

Luther Murphy sold 11 400 lb. heifers to E. R. Little at 4c.
Lafe Risener sold 17 950 lb. cows to Wm. Whaley, of Paris, at 3c.
Jeff Cooper sold 2 1125 lb. steers to A. L. Tipton at 4c with a dollar on the head.
Lucien Greene bought 12 900 lb. steers of J. J. Prater at $4.40.
Hughes & Murphy sold 15 1080 lb. steers to Sam Turley at $50, about 4c.
E. R. Little sold 20 750 lb. heifers to Cass. Falkner, of Clark county, at 4c.
G. B. Allen & Sons sold 43 650 lb. steers to Henry Hall at $3.90.
Same party sold 14 600 lb. heifers to O. H. Downing at 3c.
E. J. Scott, of Clark county, bought 4 600 lb. heifers of H. Oldfield at 3c.
Noah Lyons sold 7 600 lb. heifers at 4c.
G. B. Allen & Sons sold 10 900 lb. cows at 3c and 4 1100 lb. bulls at 3c to Mr. Whaley, of Paris, Ky.

Joe Downing bought a bunch of 900 lb. cows at 3c of Clayton & Co.
Sam Laytham bought 3 800 lb. heifers of W. W. Swango at $3.75.
Stafford Bros. sold 5 875 heifers to Jas. Whaley at 4c.
John Little sold 3 800 lb. heifers to Jonas Weil at 4c.
Lee Yates sold 13 950 lb. cows to Wm. Whaley at 3c.
Joe Clayton sold 9 700 lb. yearlings to Henry Thompson, of Bourbon county, at 4c.
Ollie Clayton sold 7 1,000 lb. cows to Wm. Whaley, of Paris, at 3c. Mr. Whaley bought over 100 head of cows and bulls. Ewes selling at $4 to $4.25 per head.

Many cattle were in pens on Tuesday, a real Court-day sale for Winchester and other towns.

The New School Election Law For Trustees.

The new law in regard to electing trustees is as follows:

On the first Saturday in August, 1908, an election shall be held at the school building in each school district of this Commonwealth from the hours of one until five o'clock in the afternoon for the purpose of electing one trustee for each school district, both colored and white. The trustees then elected shall hold their offices, one-half for one year and one-half for two years, as shall be determined by lot at the first meeting of the division board. Each year thereafter there shall be elected for two years one trustee in each school district in which the term of his predecessor in office will then expire. Said trustees shall serve until their successors are duly elected or appointed and qualified.

Any person shall be eligible to this office of school trustee who is over twenty-one years of age, and who has been a resident of the district for which he is elected for sixty days before the election, and who is able to read and write, as shown by a certificate of five reputable citizens of the district, and all male persons over twenty-one years of age, who shall have resided in the school district for sixty days next before an election, shall have the right to vote at such election.

All elections for school trustees shall be by ballot. Said ballot shall contain no emblem nor device of any kind by which it may be identified or known, and the ballot shall be printed and furnished by the County Clerk of each county and paid for out of the county levy. But said ballot shall provide blank spaces whereby such electors may vote for or elect another than those whose names are printed upon said ballot.

All nominations for school trustees shall be by petition, signed by at least ten persons eligible to vote in elections for such trustees, and no name shall be placed upon any ballot unless such nominating petition is filed with the County Clerk of the county in which such election is held at least ten days prior to the date of such election.

The officers of said election shall be a clerk and two judges, and shall be appointed by the regular election commissioners in each county and shall receive no compensation for their services.

The said officers shall be the judges of the qualification of each voter as prescribed in this act, and shall certify the returns of the election to the County Superintendent of Schools within five days after said election.

M. J. GOODWYN,
County Superintendent of Schools.

REVIVAL

Evangelist Wharton Arrived On Sunday.

Enthusiastic Cooperation For the Salvation of People and Development of Christian Character.

SERVICES HELD IN A TENT.

We are pleased to say that Rev. H. M. Wharton, the evangelist, arrived in our city on Sunday to lead in a cooperative work by all the protestant congregations in this city. Necessary committees had been previously named. Owing to the fact that the large tent to be used had been sidetracked to Cincinnati in shipment from Georgetown and hence was delayed, the meeting began at the Christian Church on Sunday night, when Rev. Wharton preached to a large audience. The fraternal spirit and enthusiasm gave promise of great results for good. A choir representing the congregations will add much to the meeting and will be a conspicuous feature.

On Monday afternoon the evangelist spoke to a large assembly of men from the east entrance of the court house. The meeting was again held at the Christian Church in the evening, but announcement was made for the tent on Tuesday night. The tent has a seating capacity of 1500 and is comfortably seated with benches, is located in Dr. Ricketts' lawn on Maysville Street, half a block from court house. It will be amply lighted with electricity. As we go to press on Tuesday afternoon late the workmen are arranging the seats, with probably a finishing on Wednesday morning.

Let this meeting be a great campaign for righteousness. Rev. Wharton is not a stranger in our midst, as he last year held a meeting in our city and has many friends. He is a pleasing and able preacher who will proclaim the gospel; the power of God unto salvation to every one who will believe. Let Christians attend, work and pray, and many will be brought to Christ.

Services each morning at 10 o'clock and evening at 7:30 o'clock until further notice.

Deserved Compliment.

In speaking of the large amount of Equity tobacco which is being handled in Ripley O., the Bee, of that city, pays the following compliment to Mr. S. R. Adamson, of this city:

"Mr. S. R. Adamson, the grader, has been giving universal satisfaction in his grading. His is a very responsible position. However, Mr. Adamson is a man of life long experience in the tobacco business, and his judgment is based on his thorough knowledge of tobacco gained through these many years of experience."

"He is a gentleman in every sense of the word, and the farmers are to be congratulated on having secured the services of such a man."

Mr. Adamson has long been a resident of our city and is an experienced tobaccoist.

Assaulted.

On Thursday night Harry Linthecum, the greaser of our city, was assaulted and severely beaten about the face, and has since been unable to attend to business. Friends and officials can learn no particulars. There are reports that he was robbed of a watch and pin. Arrests will likely follow if Mr. Linthecum can give any definite clue. It is hoped he will soon be restored.

Election For Commissioner.

The Republican County Committee has sent the names of G. L. Kirkpatrick, D. G. Howell, D. C. Tipton and Dr. Sherman See to the State Board of Election Commissioners for the choice of one for Commissioner for Montgomery county.

CONVENTION

Amos Davis Nominated on Thirtieth Ballot.

Thrice a candidate for Congressional honors, Amos Davis, of Morgan county, received the Democratic nomination in this district at Estill Springs on Wednesday, July 15, to oppose Jno. W. Langley, present, Congressman. The convention was called to order by F. A. Lyon, Sr., district chairman. F. A. Hopkins, former Congressman, was elected to preside. Six candidates were put in nomination. Amos Davis, of Morgan, S. S. Taulbee, of Breathitt, Chas. J. Howes, of Johnson, Henry Godsey, of Wolfe; W. C. Taylor and Smith Hays, of Clark. From the beginning it was evident that Davis was the man, although during the balloting complimentary ballots were cast for several other men. A motion prevailed that after ten ballots the names should be dropped. The nomination was made on 13th ballot, the vote being: Davis, 284; Taulbee, 273; Hays, 20—necessary to a choice, 28.

On final ballot Hays received 20 votes—from Clark 12, from Montgomery, 8.

The best of feeling prevailed, enthusiastic speakers endorsed the nominee, and Amos Davis goes forth to do battle with Mr. Langley, the Republican nominee.

LEAD PROHIBITIONISTS.

Illinois Man is Nominated for President and Ohioan for Second Place.

For President, Eugene W. Chafin, of Illinois; for Vice President, Prof. Aaron S. Watkins, of Ohio.

The above ticket was nominated by the Prohibitionist National Convention at Columbus, Ohio. The full endorsement of the convention was not, however, given to Mr. Chafin until after three ballots had been taken. The strongest competitor of Mr. Chafin was, Rev. William B. Palmer, of St. Louis. It was decided to make Mr. Palmer the Vice Presidential nominee and he was named by acclamation. He declined to accept the office.

Professor Watkins was named by acclamation.

Bank Statements.

A call having been made for a showing of National Banks on July 15, we present today the reports of the Montgomery National and Mt. Sterling National, of our city. A statement from all the banks was made as of June 30.

Horses Being Driven.

People who live near the city and drive in after supper and hitch their horses on the street, are complaining of their horses being driven. This should be looked after by the proper authorities.

TRUE STORY WITH A MORAL.

They Are Not Scarce, But This One Is Well Worth Learning.

"There are thousands and thousands of drammers in the country," said the man from Boston, "and while only two of them are known to be prevaricators, their conduct is a smirch on the whole body of men. I am going to relate a curious circumstance, and while I know that I shall not be believed I yet feel it my duty to give the story to my fellow men on account of the moral connected with it."

Everybody put on a grave face and prepared to listen, and after clearing his throat the Bostonian continued: "Five years ago I was eating dinner at a Chicago restaurant. Just as I rose up I put a $10 gold piece in my mouth to hand to the waiter. At that minute a drummer for a New York leather house came up and slapped me on the back and I swallowed the gold. I consulted a physician and he said nothing could be done. In fact, he advised me not to do anything, as it would turn me into a sort of gold-cure in case I ever took to drink."

There were winks and nods and knowing looks, but the relator had truth on his side and there wasn't a tremor in his voice as he went on:

"Last week I was in New York. I entered a restaurant for a good meal, but before sitting down I felt for my wallet. It was missing. I had been robbed on a subway train. Gentlemen, I was hungry, homeless and penniless. Just as the situation dawned on me my blood began to run cold, that same leather house man, now connected with a hymnbook establishment, come up and slapped me on the back as before. That $10 gold piece flew from my mouth and struck the wall and I was saved. That's all."

"But the moral to it?" was asked. "Yes, it is this, Gentlemen, the moral is, never despair. No matter how dark the situation or with what troubles you are surrounded, you may cough up $10 and walk in sunshine again. Try it and take no other."

An Island of Massacres.

Hart, the West Indian island, to which public attention has just recently been directed, has been the scene of more massacres than any other place on earth.

They began with the coming of Columbus and the rabble rout that followed him. In a few years its 3,000,000 gentle, brown-skinned inhabitants had perished utterly, exterminated by fire and sword and by forced labor in the mines.

Next the buccaners seized the unhappy island and wreaked vengeance on the Spaniards. Presently came the French, and for a brief space there was some semblance of peace. But in 1795 the negroes revolted and murdered practically all the whites.

On account of these atrocities, frightful reprisals took place when France, in due course, reconquered the island. But the negroes bided their time, and having acquired a ruffian name Desalines. This time they did the thing thoroughly. Not only were all the Europeans put to death, but all having an admixture of white blood in their veins suffered a like fate. In all it is computed that 5,000,000 men, women and children have met with violent deaths on this island of massacres since the luring white man first set foot on its palm-fringed strand.

Ready to Open an Account.

"Please write your name on that line," said the bank teller, pushing a book and a pen toward the old woman. "Do you want me to sign your first name?" she asked, as she took the pen.

"Yes, your full name and middle initial, but not your last name."

"Do you want my husband's name?"

"Yes, his last name, but your own first name."

"Oh, my name before I was married?"

"No, your given name—Ellen, or Bridget?"

"Sure, but my name is nayther wan o' them."

"Well, what is it, then?"

"Sure, it's Mary."

"Very well. There are others waiting in the line, so please hurry and write your name."

"Wan minute. Do you want the name?"

"No, never mind that. Now, go ahead."

"Sure, I'd do that, honest. I would; but you see, sor, I can't write!" She coughed.

At Commencement Time.

A small sectarian university in the south had finally succeeded in obtaining the presence of a well-known high up to grace its commencement exercises.

"Now that we have you here, bishop," announced the president of the institution as he greeted the honored guest, "we are going to give you a degree. What will you like?"

"What have you got?" inquired the bishop, with a sly twinkle.

"We have D. S. T. D. L. D. A. C. L. You may take your choice."

"Well," answered the bishop, "I think you may make it D. C. L. I have fewer of those than I have of the others."—Harper's Weekly.

Blessing Free.

"And will you give us your blessing?" asked the eloquent bride, returning to the parental roof.

"Freely," replied the old man. "No trouble about the blessing, but board and lodging will be at regular rates."—The United Presbyterian.

MERRY-MAKERS

Fail to See Passenger Flyer—All Badly Mangled.

Charles Sherman King, of Fort Wayne, Ind., his wife and two daughters; Carl Timmins, the chauffeur, and Miss Fayma Bradley, were killed in an automobile accident by being struck by a train on the Pennsylvania railroad. The party was in King's automobile. The automobile was stopped at a crossing by a freight train, and drove on the tracks behind the caboose, the driver failing to see the east-bound Manhattan Limited passenger train, at high speed.

The machine was totally destroyed. The six bodies were scattered along the track for 100 feet, badly mangled.

Good Way to Do Business.

In ordering a 50c bottle of Dr. Howard's celebrated specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia at 25 cents, W. S. Lloyd is giving one of the greatest trade chances ever offered to the people of Mt. Sterling.

If food does not digest well, if there is gas or pain in the stomach, if the tongue is coated and the breath bad, if there is constipation and straining, Dr. Howard's specific will cure you. If it does not, you have druggist W. S. Lloyd's personal guarantee to return your money.

This remarkable remedy comes in the form of tiny granules, and can be carried in the vest pocket or purse. It is very popular in New York City, and it is not unusual to see someone after a meal at one of the large hotels or restaurants, take a dose of this specific, knowing that it will prevent the uncomfortable feeling which frequently follows a hearty meal.

Dr. Howard's specific gives quick relief and makes permanent cures of constipation, dyspepsia and all liver troubles.

Chewing Board is Busy on Tobacco Samples.

At Washington about twenty samples of chewing tobacco are being tested by the Chewing Board in connection with the proposed purchase of 100,000 pounds of the weed, which it has been found necessary to obtain, in addition to the regular annual supply, for the navy for the present fiscal year.

The prices range from thirty-six to forty-two cents per pound, and the aim is to obtain a brand of tobacco best adapted to the use of the sailors.

HIS VAIN REGRETS

COULD HAVE ENJOYED GOOD THINGS DENIED HIM.

Man Born with Keen Appreciation of the Refined and the Beautiful Doubts Whether Gifts Were Well Bestowed.

"As I look back," said a man upon whose head now quite some years have fallen, "my only regret is that I was born with refined tastes, with an appreciation of the beautiful, with love for all things graceful and good. For I have not been so fixed that I could satisfy these longings.

"Now, if, so to say, I had been born rich as well as handsome it would have been all right; but unfortunately for me poverty was my lot, as far as money is concerned, and so I have had high tastes and aspirations without the means of satisfying them; and I think I might have enjoyed life more if I had been made of coarser clay.

"You take, for instance, the matter of food. I like good things to eat and good cooking; and though I am naturally of a tranquil temperament and possessed always of a good appetite, yet food poorly cooked and poorly served always disturbs me greatly.

"But on the other hand, do we not find plenty of people who rise from a puny, however cooked and served, contented and happy? And I often wonder if it would not have been better for me if I had been born with that disposition.

"Take pictures. I like good paintings, and should be glad if I could adorn my house with such, but as it is my walls are bare, while those who find delight in simple chromes have walls well filled. And would it not have been better for me if my tastes had been that way? And you take works of art. I like vases that would cost $1,500 apiece, while many are satisfied with what they can get at the 'five and ten.' And would it not have been better for me if I had been like them?"

"And I think I could enjoy a motor car, though I ride, perfectly, in the people's automobile. And I know I should like a yacht—and I'd be satisfied with about a 45-foot sloop for a start—but I have to ride in a steamboat common to all. And my clothes get shabby, and I wish I had more money for clothes.

"In fact, there's a whole lot of things that I'd like to have and that I'd much enjoy, but that I can't have for lack of money, and so as I look back I sometimes wonder if it would not have been better for me if I had been born with an appreciation less keen for the beautiful. And yet I don't know."

Price of Perfection.

Oscar Hammetstein at a recent dinner described a contemplated cast for "Thais," wherein the principals' salaries alone would aggregate $10,000 a night.

"But, you know," said Hammetstein, "perfection is always expensive. Napoleon never breakfasted at the same hour. Now he would breakfast at seven, now at 11, now at ten. Yet, whenever he came, his breakfast, a young broiled chicken, was always brought immediately to him, cooked to perfection, just off the grill.

"One morning Napoleon sent for his cook, and said, with a pleased laugh: 'How do you manage it that, no matter who I breakfast, my chicken is always ready, done to a turn?'"

"Sire," said the cook, "every ten minutes I put a fresh chicken on to broil. Thus one is always perfectly done for you when you ring."—Baltimore Sun.

Curious Old Laws of India.

Some of the old laws of Nepal, India, were curious. Killing cows ranked with murder as a capital offense, for instance. Every girl at birth was married with great ceremony to a betel fruit, which was then cast into a sacred stream. As the fate of the fruit was uncertain the girl was supposed never to become a widow. To obtain divorce from a husband, a wife had only to place a betel nut under his pillow and depart. In Nepal the day is considered to begin when it is light enough to count the tiles on the roof or distinguish the hairs on a man's hand against the sky.

Weekly Holiday Enforced.

In New Zealand everybody is bound by law to take a weekly half-holiday, and there must be no shirking the obligation. The Grand hotel, Auckland, was recently crowded with guests, and several waiters, instead of obeying the law and taking their prescribed weekly half-holiday, remained at work on the promise of extra pay. But the authorities came to hear of it and the proprietor of the hotel had to appear in court, where he was convicted and punished.

A Protest.

"I beg pardon," said the new arrival, "but it seems to me it's excessively warm here."

"Oh, what?" cried Satan, "evidently you forget where you are. This place is meant to be warm."

"Quite so, but there's such a thing as overdoing it"—Philadelphia Press.

BEST WORKERS ARE SPANIARDS.

Their Wonderful Capacity for Hard Labor on Slim Diet.

A present-day globe-trotter said to a New York Press writer: "I should like to recommend the employment of Spaniards to dig the Panama canal. The rest of the world does not seem to have the wonderful capacity for work possessed by the Andalusians. Why, I have seen in the castle of Solomon copper mine men doing the work of our men for about 12 hours a day and knock off as happy as a lark, ready for a fight or a frolic, ready to go mad at the distant tinkle of a gong, ready to beat their hands so long keeping staccato time to the Cadiz cachucha.

"And what has his ration consisted of? A piece of bread dipped in a cow's horn of oil and another of vinegar, spiced up with hot green pepper, garlic and salt. In summer his food consists of a section of pink melon.

"How many million pounds of meat have been shipped to Panama since the digging began? The Andalusians know not the hunger for meat. He is never ill. The doctors at the isthmus have their hands full all the time trying to cure disease directly due to meat.

"Here is a common Spaniard who could pull a bull down by the horns, drive his knife through a three-inch plank, nourishing his robust and stamina on a slice of melon brought from that moist province where the mocking proverb says, 'The trees are grass, the earth water, the men women and the women—nothing!'"

"Yesterday I witnessed in one of our semi-fashionable resorts a New Yorker double up and pack on his fork for one calm mouthful about four cubic inches of red roast beef. It was not a pleasant sight. I compared the man's food capacity with that of people who had achieved."

"Herein nature does diet scourged the shrinking world. The Roman soldier on his sour wine and vinegar bread mapped out Europe with his 'five and ten.' And would it not have been better for me if I had been like them?"

Great Thought of the Ancients.

"Plato," said Socrates, "you have observed, I doubt not, that we have two ears and two eyes."

"Now that you mention it," quoth Plato, "I have."

"And but one tongue."

"Quite so."

"Hence nature does teach us that we should hear and see twice as much as we talk. Is it not so?"

"But, my master," objected Plato, "we have two nostrils and only one mouth. Must we therefore smell everything twice before we eat one?"

"Plato," irritably rebuked Socrates, "anybody can make a flippant comment that will knock the juice out of the wisest saying a philosopher can pull off. I wish you'd cut it out."

On preparing the staff for publication, therefore, Plato prudently cut out his flippant comment.

Salt is a Necessity.

"Salt is a most necessary article of food," says a well-known scientist. "All races of mankind, either civilized or in a savage state, have the same regard for salt."

"In parts of Central Africa the natives regard salt as a luxury, and will willingly do much to obtain it. So much do they like the taste of salt that the ashes of the burnt wild grass are used to season their meat. These ashes contain saltpetre, which imparts the coveted flavor to food."

"Animals, too, are fond of salt. In a wild state they will readily go to a spring the water of which has been salted. Sportsmen know this, and use it as a bait."

"Salt exists in all parts of the body. So omnipresent is it that even the tears of a man are salted. Hence the 'salt tears' of the poet."

Force of Habit.

There is a certain western congressman whose boundless affability and habitual absent-mindedness have occasionally led him into absurd mistakes. One day, during his last campaign, as he stepped from the train at the station of his home town after an arduous two weeks of stumpings and "glad-handing," his little daughter rushed up to him and kissed him. The congressman beamed upon her with a proud and tender smile.

"Well, well!" he exclaimed, "if it isn't my little Albertina!" Then he adieu mechanically. "And how is your dear old father?"—Success Magazine.

World's Largest Bowlder.

The largest bowlder in the world is in Victoria, Australia. The name of "The Leviathan Rock" has been given to it. Its estimated bulk approaches, if it does not exceed, 30,000 tons. This great rock may be likened to an immense egg lying on its side, the part resting on mother earth being not more than 30 yards square. Hundreds of persons could find shelter under it from a passing storm or the sun.

KILLS MAN.

Then Sends Bullet Through His Own Brain.

Early Sunday morning the town of Hillsburg, ten miles east of Frankfort, Ind., was thrown into a form of excitement by a murder and suicide. Clarence Jones, a young business man, shot and instantly killed Claude Pruitt, a young and well known farmer, and then almost immediately afterward sent a bullet from the same revolver into his own brain and fell dead within fifty feet of where his victim lay.

The men had been drinking and it is alleged the shooting was the result of an argument over a card game. Pruitt was 23 years old and only recently married. Jones was 28 years old and leaves a wife and daughter.

The Law of the Roads.

Public safety requires the better observation of the laws of the road by the drivers of automobiles and horse vehicles.

That drivers passing each other should pass to the right; that a driver overtaking another in the same direction, should pass to the left; that the latter should pull to the right in order to make room for such passage; that corners should never be turned at speed and that in turning them drivers should keep well to the center or right of the road, are all primary essentials of safe driving, whose observance is indispensable to the preservation of those who use the streets and roads.

Physicians for Law-Enforcement.

North Carolina, on May 29, by a majority of 44,000 votes, prohibited the manufacture of all intoxicating liquors within the State, except that sales may be made upon the prescription of a reputable physician for medicinal purposes. The State Medical Society of North Carolina recently took the following strong stand:

"Resolved, That we condemn as unprofessional and grossly immoral any lax or unfaithful conduct in the members of this society in the exercise of the privilege conferred in this (prohibition) law."

Airships Will Lead New War.

Washington, July 19.—"In the next war that is fought the advance column will be made up of balloons and airships." This is the belief freely expressed by army and navy officers here. For this particular reason the army balloon tests, which are to begin at Fort Meyer next week, will receive much attention in military circles.

Contributions From Corporations Will Not Be Accepted.

Hot Springs, Va., July 18.—"The National Republican Committee will accept no contributions from corporations," said Judge Taft, Presidential candidate of the Republican party today.

Judge Taft said that not only would the law of New York State, providing for the publicity of campaign contributions, be obeyed, but the new Federal law, prohibiting such contributions by corporations in connection with the election of President, Vice President, Representatives or Senators, would be obeyed. Answering questions as to the application of the national law to contributions for the election of Presidential electors, Judge Taft declared that the law would be obeyed as it was passed by Congress.

Judge Taft's attention was called to assertions of some journals representing the liquor interests that he is opposed to Prohibition. He explained that he had never publicly discussed the ethical side of Prohibition, and he took the view, as he understood Mr. Bryan had done, that the Prohibition issue was not involved in the national campaign.

Better Pikes.

Fayette, Bourbon and some other blue grass counties are building first-class macadam roads (turnpikes). What is Montgomery going to do? If Montgomery waits until the other counties build their roads and get all the advantages that will come from making these improvements, we will then be placed at a disadvantage in competing for trade.

Seed Company Is Sued—32,500 Bushels Involved.

A suit for damages was filed last week in the Montgomery Circuit Court, instituted by D. S. Gay, of Clark, and others against the Kentucky Blue Grass Seed Company, of this city. An accounting of 32,500 bushels of blue grass seed, in which the plaintiff claims an interest, is sought at the September term of court here.

Enjoin Selling Tobacco Crop.

The Burley Tobacco Society and the Fayette County Board of Control brought suit in Lexington against B. O. Dindler and R. K. Combs, praying an injunction restraining and enjoining Dindler from offering for sale, or selling a half interest in a crop of tobacco, and enjoining Combs from purchasing or receiving the said tobacco.

Cloud King's dam was Mary Chief, she by Harrison Chief. The price was $500.

Young Man Drowned.

L. O. Fury, of Adlyston, O., a suburb of Cincinnati, and a student at Georgetown, Ky., College, was drowned Sunday afternoon in Elk Horn Creek. He was a member of a boating party of three. A young woman of the party was rescued after having gone under three times. The father and mother of Fury were on the bank and witnessed his drowning.

Democrats at Washington are pleased with the news that Gov. Hughes will be a candidate for reelection, believing it will increase the Democratic prospects of success in New York.

Mr. Bryan on Friday denied that he had disapproved the Administration's course in the Brownsville case, as was stated by Bishop Walters, of the Afro-Methodist Episcopal Church.

AFFAIR FOR FAMILY

WASHING HEADSTONES IN COUNTRY GRAVEYARDS.

Matter of Routine for Which One Day in the Year Was Set Apart—Some Lots Left in Neglect.

The well-ordered city cemetery of fers a sharp contrast to the cemetery of the countryside—the one laid out regularly by a landscape architect and kept continually spruced up by the labor of many gardeners; the other a wilderness usually, where trees and briars and vines grow as they will, says the New York Sun.

So when a man whose early days were spent in the country visits Greenwood or Woodlawn or other less pretentious cemeteries his mind goes back to the graveyard he knows of, and still lies, on a hillside where the sun came oftenest; a wall of stones piled unevenly surrounded it; within the paths ran crookedly this way and that, bordered by wild rose and hawthorne and the weeping willow, scattered in nature's splendid disorder.

But he remembers that most of the tombstones gleamed just as white in the sunlight as the more elaborate tombstones he is contemplating. Of course in the city the men attached to the cemeteries see that the tombstones are kept clean.

How was it in the country? Surely the aged sexton who dug the graves didn't take care of them after the last words of the burial service had been said.

So he recalls that each family looked after its own burial plot, not in haphazard fashion but as a matter of routine. There wasn't much sentiment in the performance; it was part of the year's work.

A day in the spring, he recollects, was set apart for this duty. If you lived at a distance it was quite an undertaking.

The wagon was loaded up with gardening tools and scrubbing brushes and soap and a big wash boiler. At the house nearest the cemetery you called and got this boiler filled with hot water. He recalls that the water slopped over on his bare feet as the wagon, pursued an uneven course through the burying ground.

The first thing was to give each marble headstone a thorough scrubbing with soap and water. Then a little rough gardening was done, not enough to give the graves a trim appearance, but sufficient to mark each one from its neighbors.

It was the custom of all the country-side to keep the headstones bright, and many persons could be seen working energetically with scrubbing brushes on any early spring day. But some graves were neglected, he recalls; all the family had died or moved away and the graves were deserted were fast being covered from sight in riot of briar and tangled grass.

It must be that the graves of his ancestors were that way now, for all his kin not dead had found homes elsewhere on the earth. These lines from Longfellow's "Merrill's Salutation" come to his mind:

Each at some well remembered grave will kneel And from the inscription wipe the weeds and moss. For every heart best knoweth its own loss.

And he resolves as he comes out of his day dreaming that he will look some day and see that the headstones are polished bright again. But he never does.

Uses of Olive Oil. Not every one realizes the medicinal properties of olive oil. It is quite true that the machinery of the body needs oiling occasionally, like any mechanical machine which is constantly in use, and olive oil, taken internally, will be exceedingly beneficial. A tablespoonful will aid the digestion and ease liver trouble. It should be served frequently as a dressing and is not only pleasant on vegetables, but serves as an appetizer as well. Taken internally, either with salads or alone, it is beneficial for cases of run-down nervous system and loss of weight. It should be rubbed well into the skin, the entire body being massaged with the oil, particularly the spine. After massaging with olive oil use a Turkish towel, rubbing well over the body. As a preventive of colds mix it with guinea and rub on the chest and back. It can also be applied with a rubber camphor to cure soreness of the throat.

A Metaphor with a History. To know a hawk from a heronshaw" is a metaphor with a curious history. It is a comparison drawn from falconry. "Heronshaw" is a corruption of "heronshaw," or young heron, a bird which was a common prey of the falcons. To know a hawk from a heronshaw therefore is to be able to distinguish the falcon from its prey. As further colloquial corruption crept into the phrase—"to know a hawk from a heronshaw," a form used by Hamlet in one place. Possibly the distinction between a hawk and a heronshaw was found not to be strong enough for the purposes of the proverb.

Inconsistent Way of Showing it. "Smith, whom I have not spoken to for six months, met me in the street today, and, in the most nonchalant way, asked me if it was not enough for me."

"Well, the cool impudence of the fellow!"—Baltimore American.

THE PLUG HAT OF JAPAN.

Titles of the Vintage of Fifty Years Ago Make the Mikado's Subjects Proud.

"There is one sight which you must not miss when you go to Tokyo," said the seasoned traveler. "That is the rare display of anthropological plug hats."

"Some people arrange to get to Japan in cherry blossom season, and others want to get there in time to receive an invitation to the emperor's garden party in chrysanthemum time; but take the tip of one who has batted about the world considerably and land in Tokyo either on New Year's day or on the emperor's birthday. On both you can see something unique in the line of headgear."

"When Japan began to get civilized she bought all the accessories of civilization that England did not want any more. England sold her old-fashioned, out-of-date, narrow gauge railroad, antiquated tram cars and other second-hand junk, including the then current styles of plug hat."

"The title of those days has remained the ruling fashion in Japan up to the present. Japan may be called Dreadnoughts, but the plug hat of 50 years ago still reigns supreme."

"Only on such exceptional occasions as the New Year's festivities, the emperor's birthday or possibly the racing meets at Negishi, near Yokohama, does the Japanese gentleman bring forth from his chamber wood chest his plug hat, a heritage from his forefathers. It may be warped with 40 summers, crisp and green with the shine of antiquity, but that matters nothing."

"Once this superstructure to his wrinkled frock coat and bagged trousers is added, the Japanese gentleman feels that no dignity short of a decoration of the order of the Rising Sun can be added to his person. That crowning glory of a plug hat may settle around his ears or it may perch upon his head like a pesant, but it is no matter. It is the hat of civilization and the badge of respectability."

"He trots out of his house looking like one of the ancient daimios stiff with the dignity of two swords. All that fearful day he wears this hat of ancient vintage like a crown, and at the end he stows it away in his sam-poo chest awaiting another festival occasion or held as an asset in his estate after death."

Unwise Combination.

To the mind of Mrs. Abigail Jennings there was a sort of disloyalty in consulting to any one but a native of Wilkesboro to be really eccentric. As for anything beyond eccentricity, Mrs. Jennings would never have admitted it, even in the case of Miss Rachel Greig, who was frankly called crazy by the summer visitors.

"Now, Mrs. Jennings," said one of the boarders, "you really mean that you've never known Miss Greig to do anything that you'd call crazy?"

"No, I haven't," said Mrs. Jennings, "but I have seen her making expressions about her prominent chest."

"Why, what do you think of her sending that bag of eggs over to the Corners to Mrs. Cole, right in the line with her laundry work, and never telling the stage-driver, and letting him throw the box right off?" inquired the summer boarder. "Mrs. Cole says there's one shirwaist she'll never be able to wear again."

"Well," said Mrs. Jennings, calmly, "I should say about that I have about a number of little things Rachel does and has done. She may lack in wisdom and forethought now and again, but who doesn't? I'd like to know!"—Youth's Companion.

Making It Measure Down.

In these days, when only the rich criminal or suspect is accorded much space in the newspapers it may be a relief to the predatory thief to have the fact recalled that the honest middle class may also produce dishonesty. A policeman told this story:

"Before I reformed and went on the force I was clerking in a small store. One day an Italian woman came in. She held a string in her hand, a long string, and said that she wanted a basket of the same length. I went through our stock and found that the longest blanket we had was six inches too short. In the midst of my search the boss came up."

"What's the matter?" he said. "I told him," said he. "I'll talk to her and keep her busy while you cut off the string."

The honest copper awares that he would not be an active party to a swindle, but whatever was done the woman soon left the store with a blanket and string of equal length.—San Francisco Call.

Took No Chances.

He had proposed, but she had given him the fright mitt—seemingly; but five minutes later they were busy swapping kisses.

"But if you really and truly loved me, why did you turn me down at first?" queried the puffed young man.

"Oh, that was just a whim of mine," she replied. "I wanted to see how you would act."

"But suppose I had rushed off without giving you a chance to explain?" he said.

"Impossible," she answered. "I had the door locked."

No, Indeed.

The sun is mighty scorching these days, but I don't mind it. I'm used to it. But what?"

"Not women still hate to be thrown into the shade."—Kansas City Times.

PROHIBITION PLATFORM.

The Prohibition party of the United States, assembled in convention at Columbus, O., July 15-16, 1908, expressing gratitude to Almighty God for the victories of our principles in the past, for encouragement at present and for confidence of early and triumphant success in the future, makes the following declaration of principles and pledges their enactment into law when placed in power:

First—The submission by Congress to the several States of an amendment to the Federal Constitution prohibiting the manufacture, sale, importation, exportation and transportation of alcoholic liquors for beverage purposes.

Second—The immediate prohibition of the liquor traffic for beverage purposes in the District of Columbia, in the Territories and all places over which the National Government has jurisdiction; the repeal of the internal revenue tax on alcoholic liquors and the prohibition of the interstate traffic therein.

Third—The election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people.

Fourth—Equitable graduated income and inheritance taxes.

Fifth—The establishment of postal savings banks and the guaranty of deposits in banks.

Sixth—The regulation of all corporations doing an interstate commerce business.

Seventh—The creation of a permanent tariff commission.

Eighth—The strict enforcement of law instead of the official tolerance and practical license of the social evil which prevails in many of our cities, with its unspeakable traffic in girls.

Ninth—Uniform marriage and divorce laws.

Tenth—An equitable and constitutional employers' liability act.

Eleventh—Court Reviews of Postoffice Department decisions.

Twelfth—The prohibition of child labor in mines, workshops and factories.

Thirteenth—Legislation basing suffrage only upon intelligence and ability to read and write the English language.

Fourteenth—The preservation of the mineral and forest resources of the country and the improvement of the highways and waterways.

Believing in the righteousness of our cause and in the final triumph of our principles, and of the unwillingness of the Republican and Democratic parties to deal with these issues, we invite to full party fellowship all citizens who are with us agreed.

Whiskey Men Say They Have a Surprise in Store for the "Dry" Element.

The temperance campaign is on in full blast in Georgetown. The principal subject for conversation is the whiskey situation, and interest has reached fever heat. The "drys" at present seem to be sure winners, but it is said that the "wets" will spring a surprise before the election, which comes off July 24th.

Killed on Boston Wharf.

In Boston on Friday two Government custom inspectors and a wharf watchman were killed and four men injured in the explosion of a box containing detonating caps in an inspection locker on the wharf.

Anti-Saloon Victory in Maine.

The recent Republican State Convention held in Bangor, Me., nominated for the office of Governor the Hon. Bert M. Fernald, an avowed prohibitionist. The chief issue in the contest was the question of the re-submission of constitutional prohibition. The following strong plank upon the temperance question was adopted by the convention:

"We believe in prohibition, and in the impartial enforcement of the prohibitory law, and are opposed to re-submission or any measure tending to a repeal of the law, which has done so much to protect the moral and material welfare and the peace of the State."

Damage suits of $250,000 have been filed at Pittsburg against the Pittsburg Coal Company as a result of the Darr mine explosion on December 19, when about 300 lives were lost.

On January 1 the Methodist Bible School of this city introduced the Button System. In that time the average attendance has increased 50 per cent, and there are now 42 pupils who are wearing the silver button, a reward for being present every Sunday in six months.

We clip these from an editorial in a religious paper:

"That altruism is but a means to the most glorious egoism is illustrated in all human experience. You don't say so!

"Epicureanism was but an egoistic revolt against that old-time, despotically enforced altruism; while, as a counter-check to the supreme egoism of Christianity, Jesus imposed upon his followers an every-day, cross-bearing altruism."

Who would have thought it?

"In society, men at last found out that the surest way to secure personal safety was not by private retaliation, but by seeking the safety of all. They are also learning, slowly, that the surest, the only way, of enjoying the highest individual wealth, culture, liberty or happiness is to labor for the general wealth, culture, liberty or happiness."

That sounds natural.

BOTH 'PHONES NO. 12.

What Is Prohibition?

We are told by Mr. Watterson the Courier-Journal that "No Prohibitionist can remain a Democrat."

Yet, Mr. Watterson is on record as having said that he "always voted for local option," meaning that in all the local option elections Mr. Watterson had always voted for Prohibition.

Under the authority of the constitution the Legislature provides for precincts and counties voting on the question of prohibiting the sale of liquor within their boundaries. This law is called the "local option law."

When Mr. Watterson says that he always votes for local option he means that under this law providing for elections in precincts and counties he (Mr. Watterson) has always voted for prohibition in precincts and counties.

If so Mr. Watterson has taken himself outside of the Democratic party, according to his own dogma. A local Prohibitionist is as much an infringer of personal liberty as a State Prohibitionist. Territorial lines do not alter the character of the act. If the people of a county wish to prohibit the sale of liquor in that county and do prohibit it, they deprive every thirsty citizen in that county of the personal right to buy liquor whenever he is thirsty. It is, according to the new dogma of Democracy, an infringement of individual and inalienable rights. It is a summary law. It is an effort to regulate a man's appetite by an act of the State.

If such a thing be defensible, be reasonable, be righteous, then there can be no unparliamentary crime in State Prohibition. State Prohibition can come only when a majority of the people within the State desire to do what the majority of the people in ninety-two counties in the State of Kentucky have done.

It is a larger territory, but it has larger resources. It may be more difficult to enforce the prohibitory provisions of the statute throughout the territorial limits of the State, but if a majority of the people have been educated to sustain the law, before the passage under the local option law ninety-two counties in the State of Kentucky have prohibited liquor, voting as Mr. Watterson says he always votes, then the argument against the enforcement of the act necessarily falls to the ground. "Home rule" is another phrase that is used to check the prohibition movement, but home rule is a phrase applying to the State as well as to the counties and precincts of the State. "Home rule" is a phrase originating in Ireland, meaning what in the United States of America we are accustomed to call "State's rights."

Whether the State has a right to secede or not, whether it has a right to establish slavery or not, whether it has a right to repudiate contracts or debts or not are questions directly affecting other communities and other States; but whether a State has a right to prohibit the sale of liquor or not is almost entirely a matter affecting that State.

If the question be submitted to the people of the State it is folly to say in such a campaign that prohibition is an invasion of State's rights or home rule or local self-government or personal liberty.

It has never been in recent years when anyone contended that the liquor traffic rested upon the same foundation as any other traffic. On the contrary, society for centuries has treated the liquor traffic as something separate and apart from ordinary commerce, subject to special restrictions by State authorities.

The question is one of practicability, one of feasibility. The State must do what it can after it has determined what is wisest to do. The evil effects of unrestrained consumption of alcohol is manifest. It is written in the medical books of the past century. How to remedy these evils, how to restrict the baneful influence of the liquor traffic is a subject that has engaged the attention of the wisest men of all countries and is engaging the attention of those men today, not only in America, but in all Europe.

It cannot be said positively that prohibition may not prohibit. It cannot be declared that it is impossible for a modern government to carry into effect a law it believes to be essential to the continued health and moral growth of its own citizens. When any country makes up its mind that prohibition is essential to prosperity and progress, it will find means of giving force and effect to Prohibition.—Louisville Evening Post.

Over Thirty-Five Years.

In 1872 there was a great deal of diarrhoea, dysentery and cholera infantum. It was at this time that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was first brought into use. It proved more successful than any other remedy for treatment, and has for thirty-five years maintained that record. From a small beginning its sale and use has extended to every part of the United States and to many foreign countries. Nine druggists out of ten will recommend it when their opinion is asked, although they have other medicines that pay them a greater profit. It can always be depended upon, even in the most severe and dangerous cases. For sale by R. H. White & Co., Druggists. 51-5t.

Mr. Taft expects his speech of acceptance will be about 3,500 words in length. It will probably only contain reference to leading issues of the campaign, leaving subjects of less importance to be treated in his letter of acceptance, which will contain about 15,000 words.

Buncoed Out of $225.

David Fleigel, proprietor of a poolroom in Louisville is minus $225. He has a "phony" diamond ring to show for it. A young man entered the poolroom and introduced himself. When the moment was propitious the stranger offered Mr. Fleigel a diamond ring "for sale cheap." For this "sparkler" the stranger wanted only $275. This, however, was more than Mr. Fleigel wished to part with. He took the ring to a jeweler, who pronounced the ring O. K., and told Mr. Fleigel that it was a bargain at $225. So Mr. Fleigel went to the stranger, and proffered him the sum of $225. The stranger said: "Give me the ring back and I will think the proposition over."

He returned and said: "I've decided to take the $225; here is the ring; give me your money." The poolroom man handed over $225. The ring looked good to Mr. Fleigel. To all appearances it was the identical ring the jeweler pronounced pure.

Mr. Fleigel grew suspicious. He hid himself to the jeweler, who told him that the ring was a bogus one, worth only a few cents. The first ring was a genuine diamond.

Blank Books Are Ordered Indiscriminately.

The State Printing Commission, at Frankfort has adopted a resolution providing that no more bills for blank books furnished county and circuit clerks will be paid unless the order for the books has been first approved by the State Auditor of the Printing Commission.

This order was made necessary by the fact that the contract with James Hughes of Lexington for making the blank books has expired and clerks have been ordering books indiscriminately and at widely varying prices.

The volume of acts of the last Legislature has been printed and a copy is being sent to each county clerk in the State.

German Editor Pledges His Earnest Support.

No More in North Carolina.

Governor Glenn, of North Carolina, amidst impressive ceremonies, signed the proclamation for prohibition to go into effect in that State on the first of January, 1909. The ceremonies took place in the executive office, and prohibition leaders from all parts of the State participated. The official vote was 113,612 for prohibition and 69,416 against it, a majority of 44,196. The temperance women of the State presented a handsome banner to Buncombe for the largest majority for prohibition; and one to Yancey county for the largest percentage, ten votes only out of the 1,220 in the county being cast in favor of the saloon.—Christian standard.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy Would Have Saved Him $100.

"In 1902 I had a very severe attack of diarrhoea," says R. N. Farrar, of Cat Island, La. "For several weeks I was unable to do anything. On March 18, 1907, I had a similar attack, and took Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy which gave me prompt relief. I consider it one of the best medicines of its kind in the world, and had I used it in 1902 believe it would have saved me a hundred dollar doctor's bill." Sold by R. H. Swindles Lexington Merchant Out of $60 Cash.

A well dressed man, with plausible address, swindled B. Hankins, of Lexington, out of $60 in cash and safely escaped.

Mr. Hankins was temporarily in charge of Mr. Cunningham's paint store, when a stranger entered and stated that he was D. E. Strong, of Richmond, Ind., and that he recently came into possession of a fortune of $350,000. Hearing of the beauties of the Bluegrass region, he said, he had bought a farm in Bourbon county and, as he was fixing it up, he needed a quantity of paint. He selected a lot of paint, for which the bill was $177, in payment for which he offered a check on a Richmond, Ind., bank for $350. Mr. Hankins, after deducting the bill of $177, gave the stranger $63 in cash and a check for the balance.

The stranger left, saying he would send his wagon for the paint. He did not do so. Mr. Hankins telegraphed to the bank at Richmond, which pronounced the check worthless. Mr. Hankins stopped payment on the check he had given. The swindler, with Mr. Hankins' cash, skipped.

Boy's Life Saved.

My little boy, four years old, had a severe attack of dysentery. We had two physicians; both of them gave him up. We then gave him Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea remedy which cured him and believe that saved his life.—William H. Stroling, Carbon Hill, Ala. There is no doubt but this remedy saves the lives of many children each year. Give it with castor oil according to the plain printed directions and a cure is certain. For sale by R. H. Democratic Incumbents Nominated in Tennessee.

In a convention, remarkable for its size, the Democracy of Tennessee Tuesday night, July 14, formally ratified the will of the party, as expressed in the primary of June 27. On the liquor question, the resolutions say:

"We expressly approve and endorse all the temperance legislation now on the statute books of the State, and pledge our party to take no backward step on these questions, but to extend and apply those laws to all portions of the State not now embraced in their operation whenever the people of the communities to be affected thereby give their consent, believing they have the right to determine this question for themselves.

"We also favor the strict enforcement of all existing laws relating to the sale of liquor, and the enactment of such additional penalties as will effectually prevent infractions by the withdrawal and forfeiture of the liquor license of those who are guilty of violating the laws."

Serious thoughts arise when we consider our obligations to others.

Heart Weakness

The action of the heart depends upon the heart nerves and muscles. When from any cause they become weak or exhausted, and fail to furnish sufficient power, the heart flutters, palpitates, skips beats; and in its effort to keep up its work, causes pain and distress, such as smothering spells, short breath, fainting, pain around heart, arm and shoulders. The circulation is impeded, and the entire system suffers from lack of nourishment.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure makes a heart strong and vigorous by strengthening these nerves and muscles.

"I had palpitation and pain around my heart, and the doctor said it was incurable. I don't believe it now, for after taking six bottles of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, three bottles of the Nerve and Liver Pills I am entirely cured, and I feel better every day. It is all due to these remedies. I want you to know that your medicine cured me. I relieved me from the first time and I kept right on with the pills in my chest was gone, and I kept on feeling better every day. I quit taking it." JOHN H. SUTHERMAN, Reading, Mich.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit it. If it fails he will refund your money. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.
